Social work majors protest retirement

By Dick Lee

Yesterday about one-fourth of the more than 125 social work majors at Wartburg made a strong protest against the retirement of Social Work Department Chairman Lola Reppert.

The students, who maintain that Mrs. Reppert was a victim of administrative deception, demanded an explanation from college president John W. Bachman.

According to the students, Mrs. Reppert first learned of her retirement from a copy of the president's report to the Board of Regents. Normally, the report is seen only by members of the board and certain college officials.

PART OF the report dealt with staff changes. Several social work majors said that Mrs. Reppert had been led to believe that the college would give her a position next year, even though her employment has already been extended a year past retirement age.

Dr. Bachman said that this was not the case.

Yesterday morning, about thirty-five majors entered the president's outer office, where spokesmen Keith Barrow and Dave Huston asked for a conference.

After discussion, the president agreed to meet with the group in a Luther Hall classroom. He also warned the students that federal financial aid funds are withheld from students who distract the operation of the college.

DR. BACHMAN agreed to hear the demands of the students, but he was reluctant to answer questions.

"I was unwilling to discuss the entire situation until a larger group was assembled," he explained.

Several of the students blocked a doorway and he was not allowed to leave the classroom until he had agreed to a second meeting this afternoon at 1 p.m.

According to Dr. Bachman, at least one member of the Board of Regents was to be present at today's meeting, which was for all social work majors.

ITEMS TO BE discussed included the future of the department as well as Mrs. Reppert's status.

Dr. Bachman also expressed concern about the future of the department.

"We are deeply concerned about the future of the Social Work Department and we hope to see that it is at least as strong in the future as in the past.

"We do plan to maintain the social work at its present strength. There is no question about that," he added.

"We hope that Dr. Gordon Hanson will return as chairman of the department next year," he added.

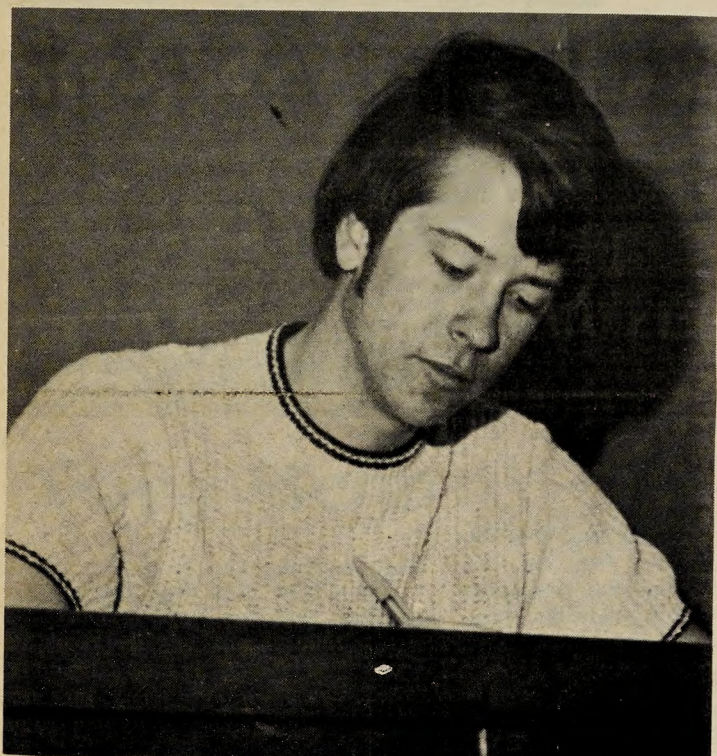

Members of Passavants, an organization for social work majors, have prepared a proposal for an increase in the number of faculty in the department.

Committee initiates black week

Demands made by the Afro-American Society at a Regents meeting last fall have been resolved by an ad hoc committee, according to a report made to the Regents this week. Six main points were considered, with some action taken on each.

First result which will be noticeable to the general Wartburg Community will be a "Black Awareness Week" scheduled for April 5-11.

According to a statement by Director of Student Affairs James Moy, "An attempt will be made to saturate the entire community throughout the week with programs and promotional materials designed to develop an awareness of the needs of minority people."

To further the goals of the week, the campus and community committees in charge of the week have arranged for campus appearances by Richard Hatcher, mayor of Gary, Ind., Dr. Charles Huerst, president of Malcolm X University in Chicago and other prominent black leaders.

Hatcher will keynote the week with emphasis on current urban and national politics.

In Moy's view, "the four-fold purpose is to:

"1. educate the citizen concerning the history, background and problems of the black man and that of our society today;

"2. encourage communication between members of the Waverly community and black Americans;

"3. develop a sense of awareness and sensitivity to people whose color and culture are different from most people in the community;

"4. begin cultivating 1-1 human relationships that can form the real basis for trust and improved understanding between people."

Money for the week has been secured from several sources including $2000 from the Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Company, $1000 from the Danforth Foundation, $500 from faculty contributions, about one hundred dollars from the American Lutheran Church as well as another $2000 from college contingency funds.

Report of Ad Hoc Committee on Afro-American Society Proposals

The Committee recognized the special problems accompanying attendance of black students at Wartburg College and also acknowledged that approaches to these problems would have to take into account the limited resources of the institution. The Committee also recognized the special opportunities for genuine education through improved inter-cultural understanding and dealt with various issues in the following ways:

1. Security. Mr. Moy reported that Mr. Shinn's duties had been redefined and that responsibilities for the security of the Black Culture Center have been clarified.

2. Library. Within the library budget $1500 was reallocated for the purchase of publications to serve the distinctive purposes of the Black Cultural Center.

3. Black Counselor. It was agreed that the college should secure the services of a black counselor for the 1972-73 academic year, possibly through part-time employment of a UNI graduate student serving as a "residence-life intern" under Mr. Moy's direction. It was understood that the College would attempt to engage other qualified black professors as openings develop.

4. Black Studies. It was agreed that it would be desirable for the college to offer one additional course, either in the May Term of 1972 or during the 1972-73 academic year, preferably taught by a black professor or at least including black guest instructors.

5. Black Awareness Week. Separate college and community committees have been formed, and plans are under way for a program running from April 5 to April 11.

6. Future Planning. Members of the college Human Relations Committee have proposed that this committee have permanent rather than ad hoc status and this is likely to secure faculty approval. Proposals from this committee could then be processed by appropriate agencies such as Budget and Educational Policies Committees at appropriate times.

Weekend convention to name SBP candidates

By Patti Brower

First session of the 1972 Student Body President Nominating Convention will commence tonight at 8 p.m. in Knights Gym.

At tomorrow night's second session, delegates will choose two nominees as the candidates whose names will be placed on the general election ballot. Also to be elected on March 24 are four other student body officers.

Student body officers to be chosen are student body vice president, student body treasurer, senate recorder and student body corresponding secretary.

AS OF WEDNESDAY night, the four candidates who had filed and met nomination requirements were juniors Doug Goodwin, Jerry Lawrence, Doug Mann and George Miller.

At the convention, each candidate must be nominated by a delegation from a housing unit.

One ballot will be conducted tonight and then the convention will be adjourned until 8 p.m. Saturday.

At the second session, candidates will make acceptance and declination speeches. Balloting will continue until two candidates meet the necessary requirements for nomination by the convention.

TOGETHER, THE TWO leading candidates must hold two-thirds of the convention vote. The candidate in second place must have one and one-half as many times as many votes as the candidate in third place before balloting ends.

Visitation undergoes study

Board of Regents has recommended that the Office of Student Affairs conduct an intensive study of Wartburg's visitation policy.

Board members decided to take no action on a petition submitted to them by the freshman class which advocated elimination of the sign-in, sign-out procedures for dorm visitation. They termed implications in the proposed change as "too vast" without considering the entire policy.

Student Affairs is in the process of setting up mechanics of a study on the matter. Director James Moy is presently drafting correspondence in the form of questionnaires to students, faculty, resident staff and parents.

Board of Regents acts at winter meeting

Wartburg's Board of Regents approved next year's budget, heard a report of the Ad Hoc Committee on Afro-American society proposals and approved faculty and staff changes at a winter meeting last Monday and Tuesday.

Other actions included approval of a new firearms policy, a decision to implement part of the program of the Iowa Student Public Interest Research Group and selection of three new board members.

Expenditures for the 1972-73 school year will be more than $4 million dollars for the first time. Total costs will be $4,022,811. Last year's budget was $3,871,742.

The three new board members, Fred Infelt of Waverly, Robert Carlson of Moline, Ill., and the Rev. Charles Bose of Denver, Colo., fill vacancies left by death or resignation.

Infelt, as president of Infelt Enterprises, Inc., operates the Infelt Store, Carriage House and Peppermint Stick in Waverly.

He has been active in community and college affairs, with five years of service as a member of the Waverly City Council. He is a charter member of the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra and he helped in the development drive for the Becker Hall of Science.

Carlson is senior vice president of the John Deere Company in Moline. Rev. Bose is executive director of the Metro Parish of Denver, which has 14,000 members and touches most of the major communities in the metropolitan area.

Faculty receive position changes

Public Affairs Director Robert Gremmels will become a part-time assistant professor of journalism under action taken by the Board of Regents. Gremmels is one of several staff members who had position changes approved.

Gremmels will replace Mrs. Margaret Garland as journalism instructor and advisor to the student newspaper and yearbook. He retains his position in the Public Affairs Office but will no longer direct the Artist Series.

Mrs. Garland, advisor to the publications for 26 years, asked to leave that post at the end of this year. She will remain on the faculty as an English instructor.

Board members also approved promotions for eight faculty members. Promoted from instructor to assistant professor are Mrs. Barbara Truesdale, English Department; and Miss Pamela Hill, Modern Languages Department.

New associate professors (formerly assistant professors) are Galen Eiben of the Biology Department and Neal Winkler of the Education Department.

New full professors are Dr. David Hampton, chairman of the chemistry department; Dr. William Waltmann, chairman of the mathematics department; Dr. Maynard Anderson, Music Department; and Mrs. Nancy Anderson, Physical Education Department.

In addition, seven faculty members were granted tenure. They include: Dr. Ronald Alexander, Philosophy and Religion Departments; Dr. Tae-Won Kim, Business Administration and Economics Departments; Sam Michaelson, English Department; Dr. Donald Roiseland, chairman of the physics department; Dr. William Rodemann, History Department; and Dr. Warren Zemke, Chemistry Department.

According to Wartburg Pres. John Bachman, decisions were also made about changes in department chairmanships. The Board was also notified of retirements from the faculty, but announcements of those changes will be made later in the year, he said.

Robert Gremmels, director of public affairs, checks over his mail. Newly appointed an assistant professor of journalism, he will relinquish as duties as Artist Series director next year so that he will be able to teach journalism courses and advise the student publications.

ISPIRG plan to get trial

Wartburg students will be able to contribute to the Iowa Student Public Interest Research Group next year but the program will be voluntary. The Controller's Office will collect the fee from those students who want to participate in ISPIRG.

Local ISPIRG supporters presented their proposal for the Wartburg organization to the Regents earlier this week. ISPIRG's aim is to use funds collected from college students to finance public interest research.

At schools where ISPIRG is put into effect, students are required to pay $3 for the organization along with other college fees. The schools return the money to those students who request refunds.

"ISPIRG was approved in principle. Regents recognized the validity of the program," said Wartburg Pres. John Bachman.

"The decision was that this coming year, students' contributions will be on a voluntary basis."

Normally, ISPIRG chapters operate only at schools where 50 per cent of the students have requested the program. At Wartburg, 55 per cent of the students had signed petitions.

One factor in the decision is the fact that the composition of the student body will change before next fall, according to Bachman.

"The number of students electing to contribute will be a factor in deciding whether to make the fee mandatory," Bachman explained.

He added that the Regents had a high respect for the way in which the proposal was presented.

According to ISPIRG supporters Sig Smeby and Dave Boedy, the local group is now making plans for more activities.

Coed housing wins approval

Board of Regents has approved proposed coed housing, designating the program a one-year experiment. Therefore, an intensive evaluation will be undertaken before the program is continued or expanded.

The proposal, including two houses with 12 men and 12 women in each, sets aside one for occupancy by a special interest group.

German Club was the first organized movement with a concrete proposal for a group living experience and requested that one house be designated a German language house.

James Moy, Director of Student Affairs, termed the German House action "a positive factor" acting as a rider to get coed housing approval from the Board of Regents. German Club representatives, however, yesterday informed Moy that their plans could not be implemented because of failure to get enough recruits to reserve a house.

In expressing his disappointment, Moy attributed the problem to a Regents' decision to bar freshmen from the coed program. The club had depended on seven or eight freshmen applicants to fill space, Moy said.

A request for a French-Spanish House was also made. The primarily unisex (mostly women) group lacked enough applicants, however, to ask for a house or even a dorm floor section.

A special lottery held last night narrowed the field of coed applicants to 24 while an overflow of students will have to find other space through the general lottery. Moy mentioned a problem of not returning parental permission slips as delaying the selection process.

No final decision has been made regarding which house in the manors will be utilized for coed living. Moy hopes to inform the women who will be displaced in sufficient time for them to relocate.

Moy says he will commit himself to abiding by the Regents' decisions in determining policy in any further coed living situations. He alluded to possibilities of a special interest group such as humanities students or ecology-conscious students organizing a house.

New gun rules will take effect

New rules for firearms will go into effect next year after Regents approved a policy recommended by the Student and Faculty Exchange and Student Senate with only minor changes. New policy was written by a senate subcommittee.

In the future, rifles and shotguns will be allowed on campus only during the Fall Term. No guns will be permitted during the rest of the year and handguns will be banned all year long.

"All guns must be stored and transported in cases or if displayed in an individual's room, the gun must be unloaded and equipped with a trigger lock," according to the policy.

In addition, rules say that "Enforcement of the policy is primarily the responsibility of the dormitory governance units, the head residents and the director of student affairs and his appointed representatives.

Main change made by the Regents was to bar handguns from campus. Originally, the policy made no distinction in the kinds of firearms which could be kept on campus during the Fall Term.

Dialogue with the candidates

By Lyle Hallowell
and Dick Lee

Doug Goodwin

Q: What is the role of the student body president on the Wartburg campus?

A: A lot of people have said a lot of things about the office over the last couple of years, and different SBP's have carried out their duties in various ways. To me, it appears to be a mediation point between administration and students. People make a lot of promises in platforms, but the important thing about the job is meeting with the administration and representing the attitudes of the students on campus.

Q: If the SBP has mediation as his primary duty, does he have any obligation to initiate programs?

A: Yes. He should initiate programs working with the few students who come to him with ideas. Since he seems to have more contact with the president of the college, the dean of faculty and the director of student affairs, he's in a position to help those students get their programs through.

I'm running primarily as a favorite son from Cotta-North, but I do see some things that could be looked into. I've been disturbed with the organization of Student Senate. The senators seem to be a lot of bickering knaves.

Q: What is the place of the SBP during confrontations on campus?

A: Here again, the president has to act as a mediator.

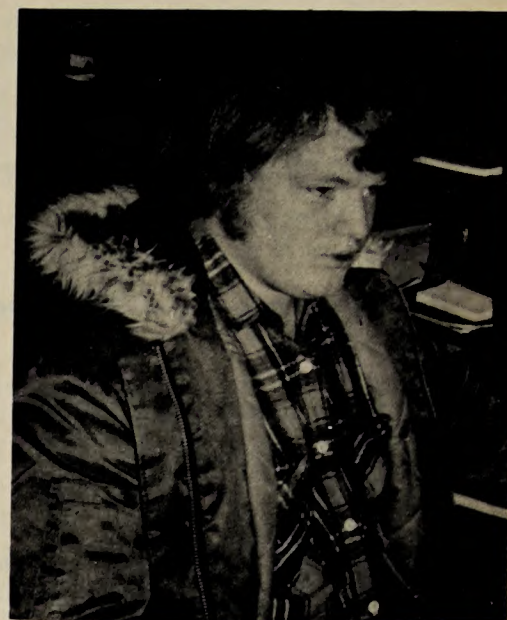

One problem, though, is that there's been a credibility gap between students and student government. From time to time, statements have been issued by the SBP or the Student Senate and there hasn't been much student support. I noticed a couple of times this year when there needed to be a mediator between Senate and the students.

Q: One area of interest in this campaign, as in other years, seems to be social activities. Do you have anything to say on that subject?

A: As a person directly connected with social activities this year, I have worked with the director of student affairs and the vice president for financial affairs. I have also been appointed to an ad hoc committee on fees, which includes the fee for social activities.

I think that social activities is a critical area. The low amount of money we receive makes social activities self-defeating. It's something that needs to be spoken to.

Jerry Lawrence

Q: What role should the student body president play in campus life?

A: I see the SBP playing two roles: first, representing the interests of students in campus policy decisions and, second, organizing activities for students. The student body president should work to secure greater voting representation on all campus committees, and he should also work next year for full disclosure of the college budget. In the second area, the student body president should organize an imaginative social activities program. He should also bring social, political and cultural issues to the campus.

Q: What parts of your platform do you consider most important?

A: I would identify four major issues for next year: 1. Reform in student government; 2. Greater representation for students in decision-making processes at Wartburg; 3. Creation of a social activities program that would be more satisfying to the student body; 4. Improvement of race relations between black and white students at Wartburg through work by the Afro-American Society and the student body president.

Q: Do you foresee any specific problems for this year's SBP?

A: The student body president elected a year ago was overwhelmed by the work load of the position. To remedy this situation, I am recommending that the SBP be given two paid assistants to handle administrative details of programs established by student government.

Q: Social activities has been a perennial issue. What does your platform contain that's new in this area?

A: Next year we will return to a single social activities director.

Specific suggestions that I have for next year include a film festival, beer on tap in the Student Union in conjunction with other planned activities, Senate underwriting of student trips for sports and cultural events, dormitory social activities and activities directed toward more divergent interests.

Q: Confrontations among students or between students and administrators generate some of the political activity on campus. What should the student body president do in those situations?

A: In conflicts where there are rival factions, the student body president should attempt to identify the leaders of the factions and organize a meeting between the two groups in which their differences can be discussed reasonably. In conflicts between administration and students, the SBP should represent the interests of students but should work to insure those interests are put forward in a calm and reasonable manner.

Doug Mann

Q: What's the role of the student body president?

A: The role of SBP has been to serve as a student-elected representative, not only to the Senate and administration but to the general public. I think it might be time for a change in the way student government is set up, however. The job of student body president has been getting bigger and bigger with more and more committee positions and so on. The president has been kept too busy with the trivia of his job. His goals should be to listen to student demands, to set up policy and to represent students to the administration and faculty?

Q: Do you have any specific changes in mind?

A: Steve West, the president this term, has been looking at some other forms of student government. During the next week I hope to see what information he has and see if there are ways student government can serve better here. We've tried things in Senate: better representation, more representation, electing new members, but none of these has seemed to help.

In addition, there's been trouble with student representatives on college committees.

Part of the problem, I know, is the fact that Student Senate spends too much of its time on trivial matters, many of them connected with social activities.

Q: You suggested that social activities perhaps are not an area Senate should concern itself with. What needs to be done?

A: I've heard that there won't be any more activities this year because funds have run out. Apparently the committee doesn't get enough money. They've asked Senate for assistance—$450 earlier this term. In past years they've been able to survive on profits of dances and other events. This year they've been losing money.

With an increase in funds, they could sponsor free dances and other free activities.

Q: How would the student representatives become involved in a new form of government?

A: We should cut down on meetings, maybe holding only one a month. And superfluous talk at Senate should be eliminated. People get tired of meeting for a couple of hours of every week and getting little or nothing accomplished.

This year we've tried to notify senators what the issues were, but often many more things would come up on the spur of the moment, so they could not be informed.

George Miller

Q: What do you see as the role of the student body president?

A: First of all, I think that it is important for the president to be aware of what the student body feels. Often times when a person is too involved in activities, it's hard to know what the students favor, but an unattached person has a greater chance to find their goals and objectives. The president shouldn't attempt too hard to fight the bureaucracy but should work with it and discuss the problems. In this way, you won't get the turn-off attitude.

Q: Why did you run for the office?

A: As one of the main reasons, I felt that any election should have a number of candidates and if a person is dissatisfied with the other candidates and has something to contribute, he should run.

I am running as a favorite son candidate for Grossmann Hall, but I don't believe it's only a rivalry. It's a question of personality. The past few student body presidents have not been looked upon with great favor. But if you've been on the sidelines as I have, you see what's happening and you see what different attitudes you can bring to the job and get something done.

Q: What do you feel will be the major issues?

A: Better relations will be a major issue. It's a touchy situation, with the minority groups on campus to give them their full rights and insure them that their stay will be favorable and to bring the two groups together in a co-existing state.

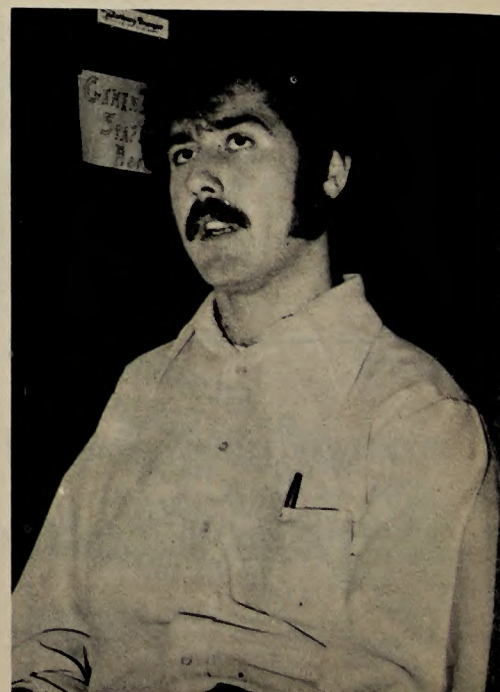

The activity fee question is an important one. The student must be assured that he will get his money's worth.

Q: A lot of people have said that changes are needed in student government. In particular, the last SBP resigned and pointed to the problems of the office. How do you feel about it?

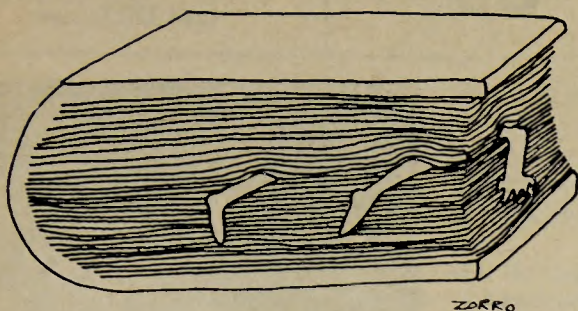

A: The first duty of a student is to get an education. I've never been SBP and don't know the burden. From past presidents I have never heard favorable responses concerning the load and this should be investigated.

Q: Social Activities has had a lot of problems this year. Do you feel that the SBP should be concerned?

A: The SBP certainly should have interest and take an active part. Social Activities hasn't met with a favorable student participation. It is the obligation of the president to project the views of the student body and if the interest is for more social activities, he should pursue that goal by exploring other areas as the previous activities haven't received much support.

Letters to the editor

Readers are urged to express their opinions to the Trumpet by letters to the editor. Letters are to be published at the discretion of the Editor, who reserves the right to edit without altering meaning.

To the Editors:

Your recent editorial commending the Artist Series Committee was much appreciated. May I, in turn, extend that commendation to a number of others who deserve to share in the appreciation:

First, I would like to thank the student body for supporting this year's series so enthusiastically. One of the chief purposes of the Artist Series is to provide students with an additional dimension to their education, and it is encouraging to know that so many students do apparently see it as an educational plus at Wartburg College.

Second, I would like to thank all those who have worked on the stage crews this year. Not only have they done excellent and faithful work, but they have helped to give the college a good name among performers. Touring companies invariably comment on the fine attitude, competence, and dependability of our student stage hands.

Third, I would like to thank the ushers, who have done such a fine job of getting everyone seated on time and in the right place. It all looks much easier than it is, largely because the ushers are so good at it. Without them the Artist Series would lack much of its class.

Your editorial, while singling out the Artist Series Committee, was really a tribute to the whole student body of Wartburg College—as it should have been. Thanks again.

Yale tries deferred tuition

(CPS)

A total of 1,257 students at Yale University have elected to sign contracts under the new Tuition Postponement Option which permits them to finance the cost of their education against future lifetime earnings.

The Yale Plan, announced a year ago, went into effect this fall. Students in Yale College choosing the option can defer up to $800 each academic year out of the total annual charge for tuition, board and room.

With more than 1,200 students—including undergraduate, graduate and professional students—now signed up, Yale officials feel the Tuition Postponement Option Plan is off to a successful start and that enrollment in future years will continue at a similar if not a greater rate.

The unique features of the Yale plan are that 1.) each individual's obligation rises and falls with his income after graduation rather than being a fixed indebtedness, and 2.) each group of students leaving Yale will have its obligations terminated when the group as a whole has repaid its amount postponed with interest.

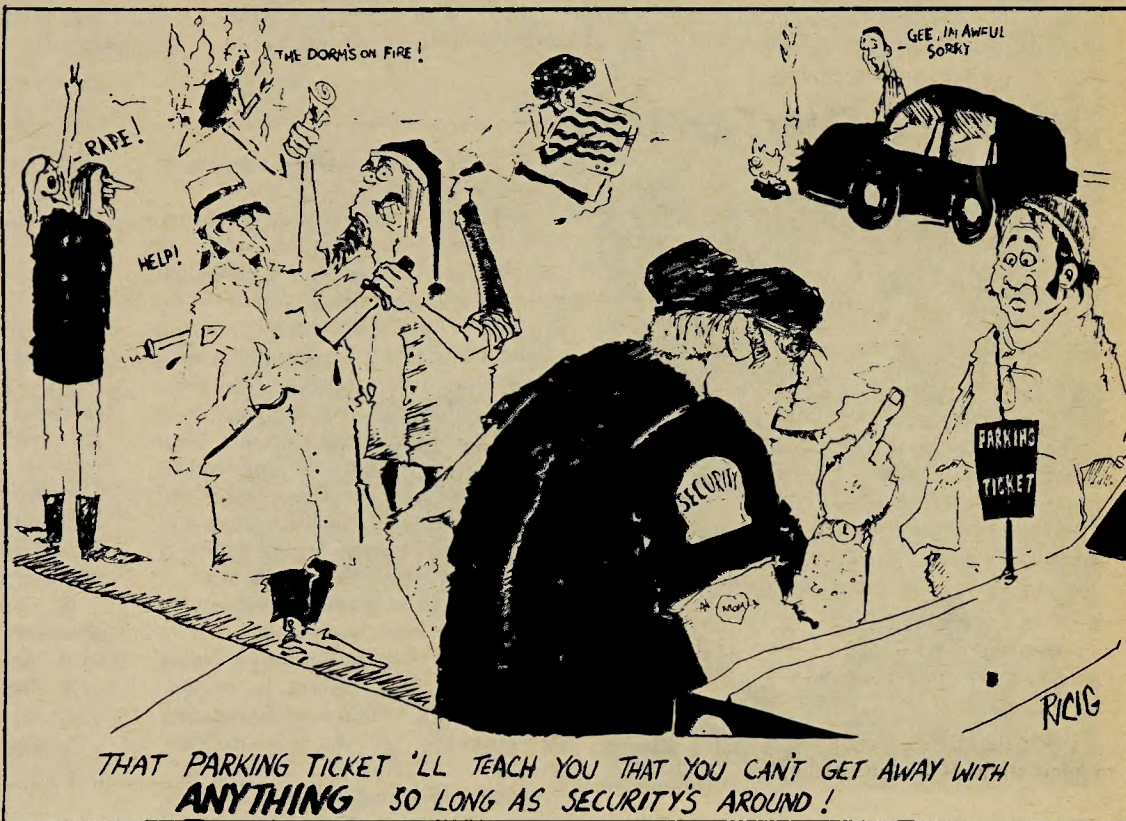

The administrative official responsible for the plan, Albert W. Buesking, associate treasurer and controller of Yale University, said that there is widespread interest in the educational community.

"One hundred and twenty-two colleges and universities have contacted Yale since last winter to learn about the plan.

"Yale has applied to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for a grant to finance assistance to these universities, and is committed to sharing Yale's experience with the entire educational community.

"If this interest continues to grow and our experience continues to be successful, development of a secondary money market and student access to that market may become a reality," he added.

Housing lottery to determine placement March 21-22

By Brenda Otto
Housing placement and planning for the 1972-73 school year is well under way, according to James Moy, director of student affairs.

OFF CAMPUS

Off-campus housing and selection will follow the same criteria as last year.

College policy calls for 90 percent occupancy of dorm space to avoid damaging contractual relationships of those holding mortgages.

A limit of 55 students was the figure established last May and will stand as is for next fall.

NINETY STUDENTS took out applications for off-campus housing, but a fewer number are expected to return the forms by the March 30 deadline.

Preference will be given to juniors and seniors; selection will also be based on justifiable reasons for wanting to live off-campus.

Applications must be accompanied by a personal letter indicating those reasons.

APPLICATION DATA such as grade-point average and other personal material will be considered only for profile in attempting to determine what type of student desires to live off-campus.

Moy said typical letters list complaints of noise in the dorms, lack of privacy or wish to save money as principal reasons for off-campus living.

"It is to the college's advantage to keep students in the dorms," Moy said.

He further voiced his concern for the contributions a student makes through interaction in his residential environments.

Off-campus applicants will also take part in the general housing lottery in the event their applications are turned down, they change their minds or they fail to find an apartment.

ENGELBRECHT WIEDERANDERS

Moy will exercise the privilege of interviewing candidates for housing in Engelbrecht and Wiederanders houses. He has been given veto power to approve or reject candidates.

Moy admits "serious reservations about encouraging such a self-selection system."

"I don't see the need for building in a facsimile of the fraternity system at Wartburg," Moy commented.

He hopes to be actively involved in the selection process and establish certain criteria for screening candidates. He does, however, anticipate improvement in terms of contributions these men can make on campus both academically and socially.

WARTBURG HALL

Wartburg Hall's fourth floor will be offered to women for occupancy next fall. Girls presently living there will be given first priority to return there.

Second and third floors of the building will be utilized by the Chrysalis humanities program.

GENERAL COMMENTS

Quota for a designated number of freshman students to occupy dorm space on a particular floor has been eliminated with recent action and study by the Housing Policies Subcommittee.

It was also decided to maintain last year's procedure for men's and women's lottery, since there were no major complaints voiced.

Deadline for the $25 room reservation deposit is June 15, as listed in the college catalog, according to Walter Fredrick, vice president for financial affairs.

Moy termed last year's housing crisis "a result of poor planning." He emphasized the inconsistencies of 29 vacancies in women's housing and men forced to reside temporarily in a local motel because of overcrowding in men's dorms.

Moy does not anticipate a comparable overcrowding situation next year because of better planning and foresight being used now.

KWAR returns to air

KWAR-FM Radio Wartburg, resumed broadcasting Wednesday under a temporary permit from the Federal Communications Commission.

The station was forced to leave the air in early February when it received notice from the FCC informing it of an oversight in filing proper forms. The station failed to notify the Washington bureau of construction of a new antennae before the present license was issued.

Station manager Bob Foster filled out the necessary applications and received approval to operate on a temporary construction permit until a new license can be processed.

Foster said the permit will allow the station to remain operational at least through May Term.

KWAR will maintain essentially the same programming as before. Broadcast hours are noon to midnight Sunday through Friday and 9 a.m. until midnight on Saturday.

The staff is presently attempting to fill executive staff positions for next fall. Sophomore John Kusiej has already been chosen station manger to succeed Bob Foster for the 1972-73 term.

Sophomore Tom England engineers an evening easy listening program at radio station KWAR. Broadcasting was disrupted for more than a month because of license difficulties.

Bachelor of general studies to be offered in fall 1972

Bachelor of General Studies Degree will be offered during the 1972 Fall Term for students who do not wish to concentrate their study in a major field.

Any underclassman of good standing who has secured the consent of a ranked faculty member to act as an adviser may, with the approval of a degree program by a subcommittee of the Educational Policies Committee, become a candidate for the degree.

Other requirements for the B.G.S. are also present requirements for B.A., B.M.E. and B.M. degrees.

Additional academic work may be required of students who have earned the degree for graduate study or careers claiming a specialized competence certified by the college as a prerequisite.

Because candidates for the B.G.S. will not be certified as having completed a major, they cannot be recommended by Wartburg for either elementary or secondary teacher certification.

Dean of Faculty, Dr. Ronald Matthias, cites two problems in initiating the program: (1) students are unaware of the possibilities of study for the B.G.S.; (2) students may feel a lack of recognition for the degree.

Frosh discuss projects

Freshman General Assembly is reviewing various avenues of involving class members in campus activities.

Possibilities discussed at last week's meeting included an all-campus variety show. Freshmen Mark Wilson and Ron Medin are in charge of enlisting participants.

Alternative money-raising projects suggested were a spring carnival and a candy sale.

Wartburg Hall representatives who asked about class support for Chrysalis will contact the program heads before taking further action.

Freshman Jay Stoerker outlined next year's freshman orientation program, Impact, Inc., which may recruit some of this year's freshmen to serve as group leaders.

Next meeting will be Monday, March 20, at 7 p.m. in the TV Room.

Off-campus courses broaden student perspectives

(NEWS BUREAU)

Twenty-eight Wartburg students are involved in off-campus study during the Winter-May Term, according to a report from the office of the dean of faculty.

A majority are enrolled in cooperative degree programs and were registered at other institutions last fall.

Medical technology students are senior Dianna Caspers who is attending Allen Hospital in Waterloo; seniors Linda Wunseh Foster, Wayne Kuhl and Nancy Manning all at Schoitz Hospital in Waterloo; and senior Judy Schrader at the Metropolitan Medical Center in Minneapolis.

IN PHYSICAL THERAPY are Carla Barr and Gwen Hatcher at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and senior Juli Petersen at the School of Physical Therapy of the University of Illinois. Miss Barr and Miss Hatcher are in their second year at Mayo while Miss Petersen is in her first year.

Attending the University of Northern Iowa as a part of the special education program are juniors Bruce Eldridge, Vickie Glew, Debbie Green, Carol Madoerin, Pat Schultz, Gayle Smith and Sharon Wuertz.

JUNIOR YEAR ABROAD, which is tied into the foreign language curriculum, has juniors Judy Imhoff, Edith Phillips and

Two students in Germany are junior Barbara Schoening, who is in the University of Bonn Exchange, and junior Paul Mueller, who is concentrating on organ and church music at the Institute for Church Music in Berlin.

Kathlyn Wieck, all studying German at the University of Vienna. Linda Wandersee and Kim Ziessow are studying French at the University of Montpellier in France.

Taking the Rural Studies program at the Northeastern Iowa Human Resource Center are sophomore Philip Ringstrom and junior Wai-Bum Shum.

Three students at the University of Denver in Urban Studies are sophomore Diane Debner, junior Linda Medberry and junior Marilyn Roepke.

Junior Kathleen McBride of Algona is Wartburg's first student to participate in the Washington Semester Program of the American University there. She will be doing a study of the politics of higher education, including a look at the role of various educational associations

News Briefs

Biology institute

Wartburg is very fortunate to be one of the 114 out of 516 applicants receiving grants for Student Science Training Programs this summer, according to Dr. Elmer Hertel, Biology, Department head. Awards are made by National Science Foundation (NSF).

Subject matter of the summer institute will be environmental biology. Classes will run for the six-week period of June 19 to July 28. The program is a first for Wartburg.

Danforth recognition

Senior Dick Lee has been named to the Honorable Mention List of the Danforth Fellowship competition, according to Dr. Ronald Matthias, dean of the faculty.

Lee, a mathematics major and co-editor of the Trumpet, was one of 300 students chosen for interviews out of 1500 applicants.

The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis awards financial aid to about 100 students named Danforth Fellows each year.

New course

Course offerings next fall will include "Human Sexuality," ID 361, a new class approved by the Educational Policies Committee yesterday. Purpose of the course will be to "allow students to examine the physical, psychological and moral aspects of human sexual needs."

Student initiators of the course are junior Jerry Lawrence and Senior Dave Boedy.

Instruction will be handled by several staff members and other resource persons with Director of Student Affairs James Moy as coordinator.

Grading will be pass-fail only.

Students ignore May Term exchange

Few students are taking advantage of the May Term College Exchange offered to all Wartburg students, according to Dr. Ronald Matthias, dean of faculty.

"So far only three or four persons have inquired or applied for this privilege," said Dr. Matthias.

One student from Northland College will attend Wartburg in order to take advantage of the computer course offered here.

Any student may apply to another school in the May Term consortium for any reason.

Among the schools participating in the program are Westminster College, Missouri; Hanover College, Indiana; Thomas More College, Kentucky; William Woods College, Missouri; and Northland College, Wisconsin.

"Many times students enjoy spending May Term off campus because it involves an educational experience different from Wartburg's," Dr. Matthias commented.

Scholars to receive awards

Regents Day will culminate in scholarship awards to 30 potential incoming students on Saturday, March 25. These finalists have been in competition for five full tuition scholarships and 25 partial scholarships in the amount of $500.

The students have been selected from a field of 86. Awards are based on SAT and ACT scores and a preferable rank in the top five per cent of the graduating class.

Applicants were required to return two essays for screening—one on a current social issue and the other dealing with either an economic or political issue.

A reading committee consisting of K. D. Briner of the English Department, the Rev. Ronald Alexander of the Philosophy and Religion Departments and Dr. Arthur Vandenbroucke of the Chemistry Department narrowed the initial candidates to a field of 30 who will participate in Regents Day activities.

Awards will be presented to the five persons earning full scholarships by Wartburg President Dr. John W. Bachman at an evening banquet for participants and their parents in the Castle Room.

Follies variety to jest fairytales March 23-25

Wartburg Band's annual variety show, Band Aid Follies, will be held March 23-25. Called "Fractured Fairy Tales," performances will begin at 8 p.m. each night in Neumann Auditorium.

Story Lady (master of ceremonies) for Follies will be senior Signe Smeby.

Highlights of the fairy-tale-oriented program include Dr. Robert E. Lee, director of the band, singing "Old Mother Hubbard" in the baroque style; the second appearance on campus of the World's Smallest Marching Band; special effects in two numbers, "Honey" and "The Frog Chorus"; two original songs by freshman Gerald Kuhl; and a parody of a German Band in an act called "Leader, Hose and Band."

Right: Half of World's Smallest Marching Band.

College clarifies records release

New policy will govern the release of records in the Student Affairs Office as a result of a special subcommittee report.

Philosophy of information release and disposal were never spelled out, according to James Moy, director of student affairs.

Moy headed the committee, which also included seniors Bob Hilgemann and Kathy McElligatt; faculty members Leslie Odone and Dr. George Bridgman; and Dr. Ronald Matthias, dean of the faculty.

Disciplinary Records

Records of dormitory hearing boards shall be disposed of at the end of the academic year in which the case was closed. Disciplinary actions of dormitory hearing boards shall not be posted on dormitory bulletin boards. The dormitory hearing boards shall release their information only with the consent of the student involved. The following may have access to these records:

1. Campus Hearing Board
2. Dormitory Hearing Board
3. The Accused
4. Persons with written permission from the accused.

Campus Hearing Board Records

The records of the Campus Hearing Board shall be destroyed one year after the case is closed. The records are to be kept in the college's Counseling Center and are to be stored in a locked cabinet. Magnetic tapes of the hearings may not be reproduced in any form; all records and transcriptions of the hearings shall remain in the Counseling Center where they are kept; records and transcriptions are not to be reproduced in any form. Each set of records on each case shall have a written notice specifying who may have access to that information. The following may have access to these records:

1. Campus Appeal Board
2. The Accused
3. Persons with written permission from the accused
4. The Campus Hearing Board

Student's Personal Folder

The contents of a student's personal folder may be reviewed by the student with the exception of any privileged information that is contained in it. Privileged information are those confidential recommendations of high school guidance counselors, pastors and other recommendations solicited by the students. Contents of a student's folder are:

1. The student's application for admission to Wartburg and all of his admissions correspondence
2. Official correspondence that may have transpired between the student and the college.
3. The student's personal data and financial aid records
4. Any test scores he may have submitted to the college
5. Confidential recommendations made by the student's high school guidance counselor or pastor
6. The folder does not include any disciplinary record nor does it include any confidential counseling records of any college staff members.

The student's personal folder is to be destroyed six years after he leaves Wartburg College.

Placement File

Information submitted by applicants on placement forms is considered to be privileged and is to be reviewed primarily by:

1. Employers who shall be designated by the student, and
2. Employers whom the Placement Director decides might be especially suitable for possible employment.

Recommendations shall be considered privileged and are not to be reviewed by the applicant.

Financial Aids Records

Access to financial aids records shall be limited only to those directly engaged in the activity of financial aids at Wartburg. Financial Aid records are forwarded to the Student Affairs Office when the student leaves Wartburg and placed in the Student's Personal Folder.

Records of all National Defense loans are maintained in the Financial Aids Office until the loan is completely paid for by the individual.

Counseling Center

1. No records are kept as to the content of any counseling interview. However, this policy is presently being reviewed by the Director of Counseling Services Center with the idea that some form of record keeping may be instituted in the future.

2. A record of the names of individuals who are seen in the Counseling Center is kept only if the individual's name appears in the appointment book of the counselor.

3. The appointment books are not normally kept for more than one year after they have been filled.

4. All file cabinets in the Counseling Center are equipped with locks. Any permanent file would be kept in a locked file cabinet.

5. The Cedar Valley Mental Health Center keeps permanent records of all conferences. These records are available only to members of the professional staff of the Center and may be used by other persons only under legal order.

6. All personal counseling records of students counseled at the Center shall be destroyed one (1) year after the student leaves Wartburg upon written request of the individual student.

Health Service

The relationship between student and physician is confidential. Health records are privileged and are treated as confidential between the physicians of the Rohlf Memorial Clinic, St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital and the College Nurse. These records are not disposed of.

General Policy

No information in any student file may be released by anyone except with the prior written consent of the student concerned or as stated below:

1. Members of the faculty with administrative assignments may have access for internal educational purposes as well as routinely necessary administrative and statistical purposes.

2. The following data may be given any inquirer: department or major of enrollment, periods of enrollment and degrees awarded, honors, major field and date of graduation.

3. If any inquiry is made in person or by mail, the following information may be given in addition to that stated in 2 above: address and telephone number, date of birth and confirmation of signature.

4. Properly identified officials from federal, state and local government agencies may be given the following information upon express request in addition to that stated in 2 and 3 above: name and address of parent or guardian if student is a minor, and any information required under legal order.

5. Unless under legal order, personal access to a student's file shall be denied to any person making an inquiry.

6. Upon graduation or withdrawal from Wartburg College, the records and files of former students shall continue to be subject to the provisions herein stated.

Dr. Jester Hairston

Black musician to conduct festival

By Mark Lehmann

"Focus on the Music of Black Americans" will headline a two-day Meistersinger Festival at Wartburg March 21-22 featuring one of the foremost black American composers, Dr. Jester Hairston.

Dr. Hairston, internationally known choral conductor, arranger and lecturer from Los Angeles, will be on campus for three days in preparation for a lecture-concert with the Wartburg Choir and Castle Singers.

Included in the festival program is an open rehearsal on Tuesday, March 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Choral Room of the Music Building. Concluding the festival will be a lecture-concert convocation at 10:30 a.m. in Neumann Auditorium on Wednesday, March 22.

DR. HAIRSTON will conduct several of his own compositions with Wartburg choral groups at the convocation.

Since 1961, Dr. Hairston has been sent abroad several times as a good will ambassador for the U.S. State Department. He has visited Europe twice and Africa three times to teach choral groups to sing American folk songs in English.

Last year, he was invited to Copenhagen, Denmark, to conduct the Danish Youth Choir in a series of television concerts of his own compositions and song arrangements. Later that summer, the Mexican government invited him to conduct a similar concert with a group of 150 music teachers in Mexico.

SINCE 1943, he has directed his own professional choir in such movies as "Carmen Jones," "Land of the Pharaohs," "Portrait of Jenny," "Friendly Persuasion" and "Lilies of the Field."

He has appeared in a number of character roles in films and television, including "The Alamo," "Summer and Smoke," "To Kill a Mockingbird" and "Gunsmoke." For 16 years, he played the comedy role of LeRoy, the Kingfish's brother-in-law on the Amos 'n Andy television and radio shows.

Some of his more familiar songs include "Elijah Rock," "Poor Man Lazarus," "Hold On," "Amen," "In Dat Great Gittin' Up Mornin'" and "Dis Ol' Hammer," several of which have been sung by Wartburg choral organizations in recent years.

Summer workshops to provide teaching innovations

(NEWS BUREAU)

Summer Term 1972 will feature three special workshops. They include a Workshop in Individualized Instruction, a Writers' Workshop and Activities to Enhance Academic Learning.

Summer Term will be divided into two six-week sessions which will permit students to complete the equivalent of one regular term.

First session will begin June 5 and run through July 14, and second session is scheduled for July 17 through Aug. 25.

CLASSES WILL be open to incoming freshmen who may wish to begin their college career early and high school students who have completed three years of study and have demonstrated enough ability and maturity to take courses for credit in the summer preceding their senior year. Regularly enrolled college students and teachers who are updating their credentials are also eligible.

TWO OF the three workshops scheduled are being offered by the Education Department: Workshop in Individualized Instruction and Activities to Enhance Academic Learning.

Individualized Instruction will be held June 19 through June 30. It is designed to introduce elementary teachers to concepts of individualized instruction and reinforcement of its nature and effects, its objectives and evaluation procedures, diagnostic and instructional procedures, materials and their use, its problems and solutions and recommendations for implementation.

Open to experienced teachers only, the workshop will be taught by Dr. Neal Winkler and Donald Vetter, both of the Education Department.

Activities to Enhance Academic Learning will be offered July 17 through July 28.

THIS WORKSHOP, also for elementary teachers, describes activities and techniques for teaching basic academic operations by using various games and physical activities which assist youngsters in calming down and tuning up, learning geometric concepts, numbers, counting, letter concepts, sounds, spelling and reading.

Techniques for improving coordination in writing and drawing will be discussed, and consideration will be given to the frequency, appropriateness and techniques in teaching these activities.

The workshop will be taught by Dr. Nancy Anderson of the Physical Education Department and Miss Marilyn Kumm of St. Paul's Christian Day School in Waverly.

Writers' Workshop, which will be held during the first session, will attempt to encourage students in original and imaginative writing.

More detailed information is available from Dr. C. Robert Larson of the Music Department, director of summer school.

New residence heads chosen

A final screening committee met yesterday to decide resident directors for the 1972-73 school year with names yet to be announced, according to Director of Student Affairs James Moy.

Moy considered 48 applications for the 27 positions that were budgeted. Four of those scheduled for the Chrysalis humanities program, however, may go under a different title.

Board of Regents approved a $250 reimbursement for the resident assistant jobs at its meeting early this week.

Proposed head resident program does not include the manors, which would become autonomous and elect their own governing bodies.

A resident manager whose job would be to serve as communication link between governing bodies of the manors and whose duties would include sitting in on housing committee meetings has not been named.

Financial reimbursement for this position has been fixed at one thousand dollars per year.

Qualifications for resident assistants call for emotional stability, leadership, responsibility, maturity and respect for peers.

In addition, they must be able to control themselves at all times and "not blow their cool," according to Moy.

Registration opens for music camp

A Meistersinger Summer Music Camp for high school vocalists and pianists will be held at Wartburg July 16-21, according to Dr. James Fritschel of the Music Department.

There will also be a Meistersinger Summer Chorus, instruction in theory with emphasis on sight-singing and ear training and electives in guitar, recorder and rock music.

Registration will be limited to a maximum of 75 vocalists and 15 pianists with admittance on a first-come, first-served basis.

Religious life news

• Special Palm Sunday worship service at 7 p.m. Sunday, March 26, in Neumann Auditorium will feature the Rev. Lowell Mays, chaplain at the University of Wisconsin, as guest speaker.

Music will be provided by Wartburg's Chamber Orchestra and Choir. Dr. James Fritschel and Dr. Franklin Williams of the music faculty will direct the program.

• "Love," an Otis Skillings musical, will be performed for the public Sunday, April 9, and Sunday, April 16, at local churches. The schedule includes performances at 9:15 a.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran, 10:30 a.m. at Redeemer Lutheran and 7:30 p.m. at the Peace United Church of Christ, all on April 9.

The musical will be presented at the 10:15 a.m. service at Trinity Methodist on April 16.

Members of the cast are students from Waverly-Shell Rock High School and Wartburg. Junior Barb Blom and sophomore Becky Meyer are serving as student directors. Community director is Duane Pichelman, private music instructor from Waverly.

Co-sponsors are the Waverly Ministerial Association and the Council on Religious Life.

• Elections for the Council on Religious Life closed Wednesday, according to Chaplain Rick Rouse. Of the 14 applicants for possible selection, five are already members.

Three freshmen will also be named by the committee next fall for membership.

'Jesus people' leader to speak at March 27 rally

Duane Pederson, editor of the Hollywood Free Paper and author of the book "Jesus People," will appear at Wartburg, Monday, March 27, at 7:30 p.m. in Neumann Auditorium.

The leader of the Jesus People will be returning from a tour of Southeast Asia when he arrives here for a special seminar and rally on the Jesus Movement.

Also appearing in the evening program is "The Sheep," a Jesus rock group from Milwaukee. There will also be a special showing of the new film "Son Worshipers."

Pederson, described as "a leather-jacketed, Gospel-preaching, latter day Billy Graham who spices his Jesus talk with rock music," made a three-week Southeast Asian tour of hospitals, camps and bases under the auspices of the National Council for the Prevention of Drug Abuse.

"We present the basic claims of Jesus," Pederson said, "and there is an over 85 per cent immediate cure rate when addicts put down their drugs and invite Jesus into their lives."

Golf and tennis teams prepare for season

(NEWS BUREAU)

Practice has begun for Wartburg College's golf and tennis teams with an eye toward beginning competition in early April.

The tennis squad opens its 11-meet schedule with a dual against the University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls April 6, and the golf team will tee off its 10-meet slate with a dual against Central at Pella April 8.

Lee Bondhus, coach of the defending Iowa Conference champion linksters, has three lettermen on a 14-man roster, while Dr. Roger Bishop, who pilots the tennis team, has five numeral winners on his 14-man squad.

Golf letterwinners include sophomore J. D. Gardner, junior Tom Fetter and senior Mark Will. Returning tennis veterans are sophomore Don Crawford, juniors Frank Coughlin and Joe Crawford, and seniors John Burke and Keith Paroubek.

The golfers won the IIAC last year, but Bondhus is missing the graduated Fred Grawe, conference medalist in each of the past three years, from his roster. However, Will, Fetter and Gardner are the remaining three of that winning foursome.

Will tied Grawe and Bob Mathews of William Penn for medalist honors last year with a 143 but finished second in a sudden death play-off. Gardner carded a 152 and Fetter a 155 in that meet.

Dr. Bishop's tennis team finished third last season in the IIAC, but three of his five returning lettermen placed in the conference tournament.

Don Crawford was second in the first flight singles and with the graduated Mike Kraus, was runner-up in the first flight doubles; Burke was third in the third-flight singles; and Coughlin placed third in the fourth flight singles. Burke and Coughlin also teamed to finish third in the second-flight doubles.

Wartburg Sports

Senior gains honors

(NEWS BUREAU)

Dave Platte, 6-2 senior forward, walked away with nearly half of the club awards voted by his Wartburg College teammates following completion of the Knights' 18-5 season.

He was named the Most Valuable Player, the Best Defensive Player and was elected co-captain with guard Tim Koch, senior.

Platte is also the Iowa Conference's Most Valuable Player and was a member of both the All-IIAC team and the All-District 15 (Iowa) NAIA team.

Other award winners included center Frank Stewart, junior, Most Improved Player; guard Steve Kohn, sophomore, Most Promising Young Player on the varsity; and forward Jeff Bergman, Most Outstanding Freshman Player.

The Knights named forward Dana Snoop of Central as the most outstanding player faced this season and Winona State as the best team played.

Snoop, who led the IIAC in scoring this season with a 24.5 average, tallied 48 points in two games against the Knights, and Winona State whipped Wartburg at Waverly 84-75 to end a 15-game home court winning streak for the Knights.

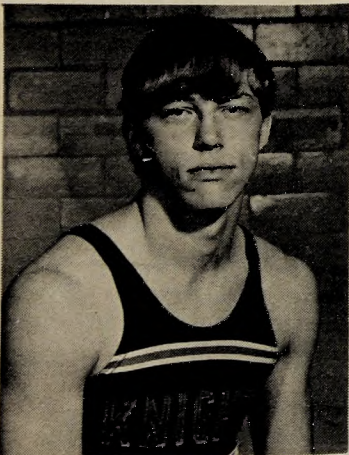

Snoop was also on the Knights' first All Opponent Team. Others were Pat Melloy of the University of Dubuque, Gus Johnson and Herschel Lewis of Winona State and Dick Authier of the University of South Dakota.

On the second team were Jim Woudstra of Northwestern, Dan Marske of Upper Iowa, Dennis Engle of Simpson and Dan Breitbach and Jim Kelly of Loras.

Kuecker loses in nationals

(NEWS BUREAU)

Lowell Kuecker, freshman 190-lb. wrestler, lost his first round match in the NAIA National Tournament at Klamath Falls, Ore., last weekend.

Lowell Kuecker

Kuecker dropped a 13-7 decision to Lowell Ramfro of Minot State.

Kuecker entered in the national tourney after winning the 190-pound championship in the District 15 (Iowa) meet at Graceland March 4.

Kuecker, who placed second in the Iowa Conference tournament at Dubuque Feb. 25 and 26, has a 14-8-1 record, including three falls.

Enroute to his District title, he decisioned Dennis Dykstra of Northwestern 3-1, Steve Tonkin of Westmar 7-2 and Frank Howell of Graceland 6-2.

As a team, Wartburg placed sixth and actually qualified five wrestlers for the national tournament, but Walker only took his champion because of expenses.

Other qualifiers were freshman Mark Caputo fifth at 115, junior Roger Buchholz third at 142, sophomore Steve Reinig second at 177, and junior Gene Johnson second at heavyweight.

It was announced at Graceland that Wartburg would host the 1973 District 15 meet March 2-3.

Platte named to District team

(NEWS BUREAU)

Two underclassmen and three seniors have been named to the 1971-72 NAIA All District 15 (Iowa) basketball team.

Back on the scene again next year will be Jim Woudstra, a 6-6 sophomore center from Northwestern, and Dennis Cullinan, a 6-9 junior postman from Westmar.

Seniors named to the first team were 6-2 forward Dave Platte of Wartburg, 6-2 guard Pat Melloy of Dubuque and 6-1 guard Dan Breitbach of Loras.

Woudstra could become one of the few players named to the All District first team four years in a row. He was a first-team choice last year when a freshman.

Cullinan led District 15 in scoring and rebounding this season with 26.0 points and 19.2 rebound averages.

Woudstra averaged 20.4 during the season while Melloy was at 21.7; Breitbach, 16.9; and Platte, 15.4.

Second-team picks were 6-4 David Bahr of Graceland, 6-7 Dan Marske of Upper Iowa, 6-8 Dennis Engle of Simpson, 6-7 Bob Surratt of William Penn and 6-0 Rick Weaver of Morningside.

Honorable mention selections included Gregg Bocch of Northwestern, Jim Bushkofsky of Upper Iowa, Donn Coker of Buena Vista, Mike Horton of Iowa Wesleyan, Frank Stewart of Wartburg and Dave Tomlinson and Sid Williams of St. Ambrose.

"Buzz" Levick, who piloted Wartburg to its sixth straight Iowa Conference title, was voted Coach of the Year.

Trackmen close out '72 indoor season

(NEWS BUREAU)

Wartburg College's track team will close out its indoor season this week at the Skoglund Invitational, Northfield, Minn.

Formerly listed as the Lutheran College Indoor, the Skoglund Invitational will be a two-day, 10-team meet.

Host St. Olaf is the defending champion. Wartburg last year was runner-up in the meet with 65 points. The Oles tallied 111½.

Wartburg coach Gary Gordon plans on sending 22 trackmen to Northfield, including newcomer Tim Mathistad, who "has been pushing our good runners in practice."

Freshmen have sparked the Knights during the bulk of the indoor season, including Dave Berndt in the triple jump, Mark Guthrie and Bob Wiltshire in the shot, and Darrell Swanson and Doug Fencil in the sprints.

Gordon is also looking for strong performances at Northfield from junior Tom Jenkins in the pole vault, sophomore Steve Hotz in the 600, junior Marty Rathje in the mile and two-mile and Wartburg's mile and two mile relay teams.

Wartburg's next action will be its outdoor opener April 8. It will be a dual with William Penn at Oskaloosa.

Baseball team starts drills

(NEWS BUREAU)

Twenty-eight baseball players, including 10 lettermen, started drills here Wednesday, Mar. 1, under Wartburg College coach Earnest Oppermann.

Knights have just 14 days in which to get ready for their doubleheader opener with the University of Minnesota at Hertel Field March 31.

Those two games are the first of 25 scheduled this season. In addition to the Iowa Conference schedule and Minnesota, games are slated against the University of Northern Iowa, Loras and Augustana. Extra singletons have also been arranged with Upper Iowa and Buena Vista, but they will not count in the IIAC standings.

The conference last fall voted to drop the three-game series plan because of travel costs. Consequently, this spring will see a return to one-day twinbills.

OPPERMANN, who owns a 200-177 record at Wartburg, has starters returning at all positions but three, and two of those are considered serious problems.

Missing from last year's lineup because of graduation are Terry Goetzinger at first base, Tom Manchester at shortstop and

Left doesn't pose much of a problem, Oppermann said, but he has to "wait and see" at short and first.

Possible lettermen are available at both infield vacancies, but one of the candidates was a catcher-outfielder. That is junior Ron Borcharding, who may be moved to first. Another prospect for that job is sophomore Mike Hansen.

Vying for the nod at short will be sophomore Jeff Rodemeyer, who lettered last year despite being replaced by Manchester late in the season, and junior Bill Nelson, who started last season but was lost in the fifth game because of an ankle injury.

In addition to Rodemeyer and Borcharding, returning lettermen include pitcher Gene Doehrmann, centerfielder Tom Flickinger, third baseman Dave Freeman, second baseman Pete Griffin, rightfielder Jon Jetmund, catcher Dennis Ristau, pitcher Greg Sween and pitcher Dan Van Syoc.

OPPERMANN FIGURES his club will have to depend upon pitching if it hopes to improve upon last year's 11-19 record (5-12 in the IIAC).

He has five of last year's staff back, including Sween, who was 3-4 and had a 4.13 earned run average, Van Syoc, 4-2 and 4.04; Doehrmann, 10-5 and 4.32; sophomore Steve Kohn, 0-2 and 1.64; and sophomore Don Ohde, 1-0 and 5.00. Kohn is a reliever.

Hitting, a question mark the past ten seasons for the Knights, still remains an unknown factor.

Missing from last year's club are four respectable sticks in pinchhitter Ed White, .500; Johnson, .310; Manchester, .283; and Goetzinger, .252. Those four also accounted for most of the Knights' power last spring, hitting 16 home runs between them.

Best of the returning averages are Van Syoc, .368; Flickinger, .344; and Borcharding, .280.

The Knights should be "satisfactory" defensively, Oppermann says, but "speed could be a problem, since we don't have anyone to replace Manchester yet."

Oppermann sees defending champion Luther as the team to beat but thinks Buena Vista, Central and Upper Iowa will also be in contention.

Knights set three IIAC marks

(NEWS BUREAU)

Three Iowa Conference records and one school mark fell during Wartburg College's 1971-72 basketball season, final statistics show.

All three league highs are the result of the Knights' sixth straight championship.

They were most consecutive titles (old record: five by the Knights), most cage championships for one school, 10 (old record: nine by Wartburg) and most titles for one coach, six (old record: five each by Wartburg's "Buzz" Levick and Loras' Vince Dowd).

The lone school record to fall was biggest point spread in a game. That is now 49 after Wartburg's 103-54 romp over Buena Vista Jan. 21. The old mark was 42, set against BV in 1968-69 and tied against Augsburg in 1969-70.

BALANCE AND DEFENSE characterized this year's Knights, who finished the season 18-5 overall and 12-2 in league play.

Three players scored over 300 points, two over 200 and two more over 100.

Also indicative of that balance was the fact that every starter led the club in scoring in one or more games.

Center Frank Stewart, 6-8 junior, paced the Knights in both scoring and rebounding. He tallied 392 points for a 17.0 average and pulled in 230 rebounds for an even 10.0 average. He was the leading scorer in nine games.

Behind him in scoring were forward Dave Platte, 6-2 senior, with 353 points, 15.3 average; forward Fred Waldsten, 6-6 sophomore, 322 points and 14.0; guard Tim Koch, senior, 235 and 10.2; guard Pete Griffin, junior, 202 and 8.8; reserve center Craig Wiersen, 6-5 sophomore, 113 and 5.1; and reserve guard Steve Kohn, sophomore, 101 and 4.6.

In addition to Stewart, Platte and Waldsten led in scoring five times each, Koch three times and Griffin once.

WALDSTEN was the club's most accurate from the field, shooting 59.6 per cent (127 of 213). Also over 50 per cent were Wiersen, 55.2 (32 of 58); Stewart, 52.8 (153 of 290); and Griffin, 51.7 (75 of 145).

Koch was tops at the line, hitting 79.8 per cent of his attempts (75 of 94). Wiersen, Platte and Kohn were right on his heels with 77.8, 77.6 and 77.5, respectively.

Waldsten was runner-up in rebounding with 175 caroms, 7.6 average, while Griffin, a guard, was third with 144, 6.3.

As a team, the Knights averaged 80.1 points while giving up just 65.5.

The Knights dominated the boards, out-rebounding their opponents by more than 11 a game, 1125 or 48.9 average to 869 or 37.8.

Women's track team takes fourth place

Brenda DeWall placed in three events to lead the Wartburg Women's Track Club to fourth place in the Iowa Federation Indoor Track and Field Meet at Drake University Fieldhouse last Saturday.

Miss DeWall captured the long jump title with a 17-10 leap and placed second in the one-lap (150-yard) dash and in the 300-yard dash.

Gwen Knickerbocker placed second in the high jump and fifth in the four-flight low hurdles.

Wartburg's eight-lap relay team placed third.

Shelby Torgerson, Lila Pederson, Karen Christiansen, Marilyn Moore, Vickie Reinhart and Bendene Hemingson also participated in the 17-team meet.

NCAA honors Stewart

(NEWS BUREAU)

Wartburg College center Frank Stewart has been named to the 1971-72 NCAA All District 5 third team by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, it has been announced by Kent Finanger, Luther coach and District 5 chairman.

Stewart, a 6-8 junior, is the only Iowa Conference player to make the top three teams.

The first and second team were dominated by North Central Conference cagers.

Others on the third team were Lamont Pruitt of Lincoln University in Missouri, Gary Evjien of Northern State in South Dakota, Jim Woudstra of Northwestern, Doug Schlepp of South Dakota Technical and Lee Roark of William Jewell.

Campus honor society hosts Alpha Chi convention

Honors students from several Midwestern colleges will hear Wartburg Pres. John Bachman discuss his world trip during a banquet tonight. The students are on campus for a convention of Region IV of Alpha Chi, national honorary scholastic society.

Iowa Alpha Chapter, the organization on the Wartburg campus, is hosting the convention. Dr. Bachman will speak on "The Fourth World," a concept which comes out of observations he made on his trip through Africa and Asia last fall.

Also scheduled for tonight is an organ recital by senior Kirstie Felland. Her performance will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Neumann Auditorium.

PROGRAMS AT the convention feature presentations by students, including papers, art and music.

First presentation today was by Wartburg senior Lyle Hallowell. His paper was entitled "Routes to Skid Row Life." Pianist Pat Fuerst, a senior, and violinist Laura Eschen, a junior, also performed.

Students from the College of St. Scholastica in Minnesota and William Penn College also gave papers today. Dr. Richard Torgerson of the Biology Department gave an illustrated lecture, "Why so Many Animals?"

WARTBURG STUDENTS and faculty are invited to the program tomorrow, according to Dick Lee, local chapter president. Papers will begin at 9 a.m.

Dr. John O. Chellevold of the Mathematics Department is president of Region IV. His term expires this year.

Alpha Chi is open to students in the top 10 per cent of their junior and senior classes.

Representing the National Council of Alpha Chi at the meeting will be vice president Jess G. Carnes of Trinity University, San Antonio, Tex.

Saturday's program will include: "Herbert Hoover's Philosophy of Business" James Olinger, St. Ambrose College.

"Thermophilic Life in the Upper Geyser Basin of Yellowstone Park," Steven Baier, Westmar College.

Art exhibit, Chris Fredrick, Wartburg.

"Of the People," an excerpt from "The Social Contract" by Jean Jacques Rousseau, Jeannette Patterson, St. Ambrose.

"The Nongraded School," Terry Toher, St. Ambrose.

Violin solo: "Sicilienne and Rigaudon" (Kreisler), Pauline Fietz, Wartburg.

Musicians to perform

(NEWS BUREAU)

Wartburg's chamber choir and orchestra will perform at an ecumenical Lenten Service at the First Congregational Church of Charles City Sunday, March 19.

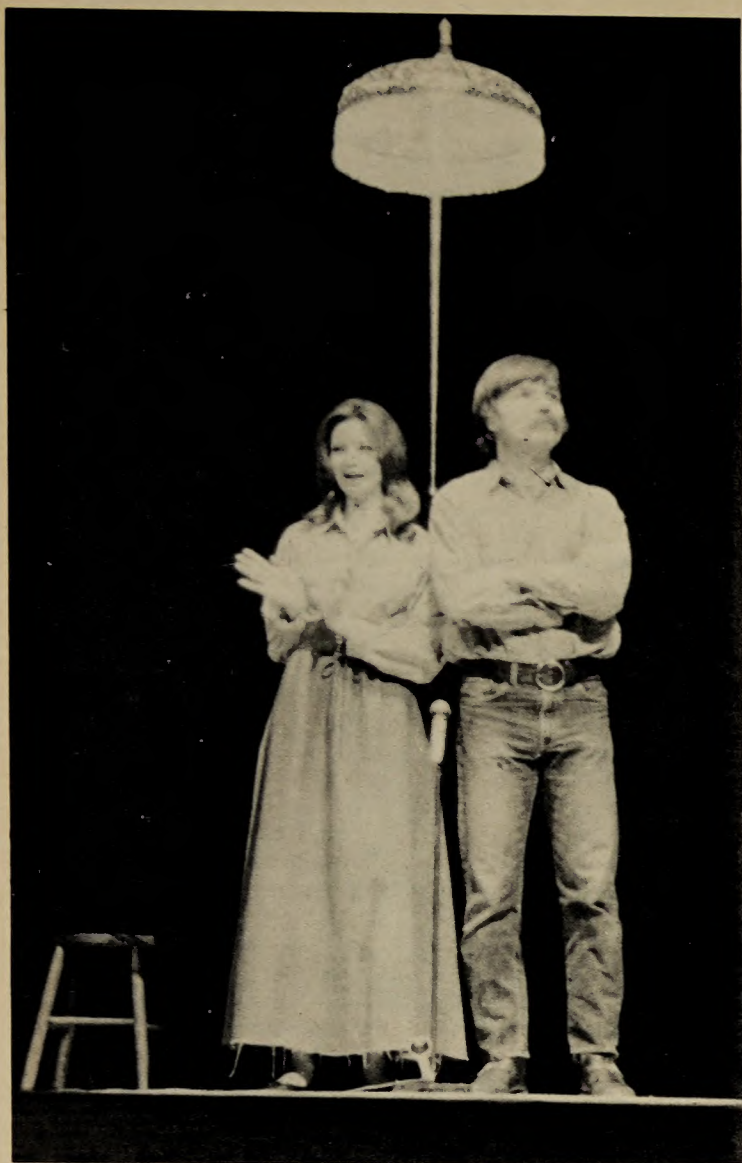

One of a series of ecumenical services, the program will begin at 7 p.m.

Also appearing in an organ solo will be senior Kirstie Felland.

The choir and orchestra will each do several numbers separately and then will conclude in joint concert. The latter will include Vivaldi's "Beatus Vir" and Pinkham's "Three Lenten Poems of Richard Crashaw."

Directors of the chamber orchestra are Dr. Franklin Williams and Harold Sundet, and director of the choir is Dr. James Fritschel.

Tandem

Norman and Sandra Dietz perform one of the plays in "Tandem" at convocation March 8.

Waterloo production casts two Wartburg dramatists

Two from the Wartburg Drama Department, senior Steve Hanusa and alumnus Clint Vriezelaar, have been cast in the production of "Three Men on a Horse" which opened last night and continues through March 25 at the Waterloo Community Playhouse.

Hanusa is a drama major whose experience reflects his major study. At Wartburg he has played Cousin Lymon in "Ballad of the Sad Cafe," Corporal Joe Adams in "Sleep of Prisoners," Friar Francis in "Much Ado" and Sgt. Trotter in "Mousetrap."

He went on 1971 tour as the Old Jew in "The Old Jew," Merlin in "King Arthur," Narrator in "Elephant's Child," Swindlord in "Emperor's New Clothes," Papa Bear in "The Three Bears" and others.

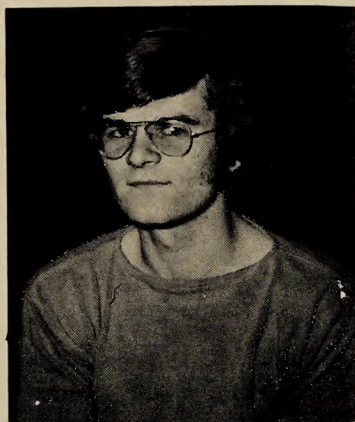

He also played the male lead in the Waterloo production of "Summertime" and spent the summer of 1971 at the Mule Barn Theatre in Tarkio, Mo.

In "Three Men on a Horse" he has the role of Frankie, a professional gambler.

Vriezelaar, a recent Wartburg graduate, plays the announcer of a radio station in the play and is also serving as stage manager for the entire show.

Fun begins when Erwin, a Casper Milktoast leaves his wife and villainous brother-in-law and innocently falls in with two men and a girl whose profession is betting on horses. To their amazement, Erwin is a racetrack wizard, and the trio tries to manipulate him.

"Three Men on a Horse," termed "one of the most successful comedies of the American theatre," uses nostalgia for charm as evidenced in its 1930 setting.
